To who it may concern-

Rebecca Lawless is a recent hire at Schulze Diabetes Institute & a trainee in our clinical and pre-clinical islet research team. She has been working on a research project within our clinical program on islet isolation bioburden.

Rebecca will be attending the IPITA conference to orally present on the submitted abstract "Quantitative analysis of microbial contamination in islet isolation for total pancreatectomy and islet auto transplantation (TPIAT): development of bioburden reduction strategies."

She has been approved by Schulze Diabetes Institute to attend the conference as our trainee representative.
