To whom it may concern

It is to state that Dr Gurjeet Kaur, is working as Young Scientist under DHR funded project entitled “Studying the role of donor transplant tissue specific exosomal factors in immune modulation and maintenance the survival of allograft in kidney transplantation” under my mentorship in department of Renal Transplant Surgery, PGIMER from 1st March 2023 till date. I know her since 2022, when she planned her work on studying the immunology and immune modulation for the survival of allograft in kidney transplantation. She is studying the immune biology of donor derived dendritic cells as well as exosomal factors released by dendritic cells through her DHR funded project since 1st March 2023 till date. She is also helping in establishing the basic cell culture facility, genomics and proteomics lab of our department.

Sincerely,

Prof. Ashish Sharma
