To whom it may concern

I am pleased to confirm that Dr. Qiang Zhang is a full-time trainee at our Organ Transplant Center at The First Affiliated Hospital, Sun Yat-sen University. Our center is one of the largest pediatric transplant centers in China and performs nearly 50 to 100 pediatric kidney transplants annually.

I have had the privilege of working closely with Dr. Zhang as his supervisor since 2021, when he joined our Organ Transplant Center as a postdoctoral researcher. During his time with us, Dr. Zhang has demonstrated exceptional skills in both clinical and basic medical research and has made significant contributions to our laboratory.

Dr. Zhang is a highly skilled researcher with a strong background in scientific work both domestically and internationally. Dr. Zhang's academic achievements are noteworthy. He authored a first-authored paper in Transplantation on the outcomes of pediatric donor kidneys in pediatric recipients, which is the first report of pediatric kidney transplantation in China in the field of international transplant community. His researches were also prominently featured on the cover of Transplant International and recognized with a Poster of Distinction at the American Transplant Congress.

Therefore, it is with great enthusiasm that I strongly recommend Dr. Zhang for the Young Investigator Award at the 30th International Congress of The Transplantation Society. His achievements and potential for future contributions make him an outstanding candidate for this prestigious recognition.

Please feel free to contact me if you require any further information.

Sincerely,

Changxi Wang, MD, Ph.D
